

Helping to keep you safe 4

You should always stand behind the safety line at stations.

Not all Metro trains stop at all stations. If you are standing too close to the platform edge the suction from the pressure of the wind can easily drag you under a train.

Be sensible

The only way to stay safe around the Metro tracks and overhead wires is to avoid them in the first place and find somewhere else to play.

Never put anything on the tracks or throw anything at Metro trains. Not only are these crimes, but you could seriously hurt a relative or friend who may be travelling on the train.
